NOT WAR.

Why T.E.A. Can Fix All Problems

The Upcoming Age of Edulightenment

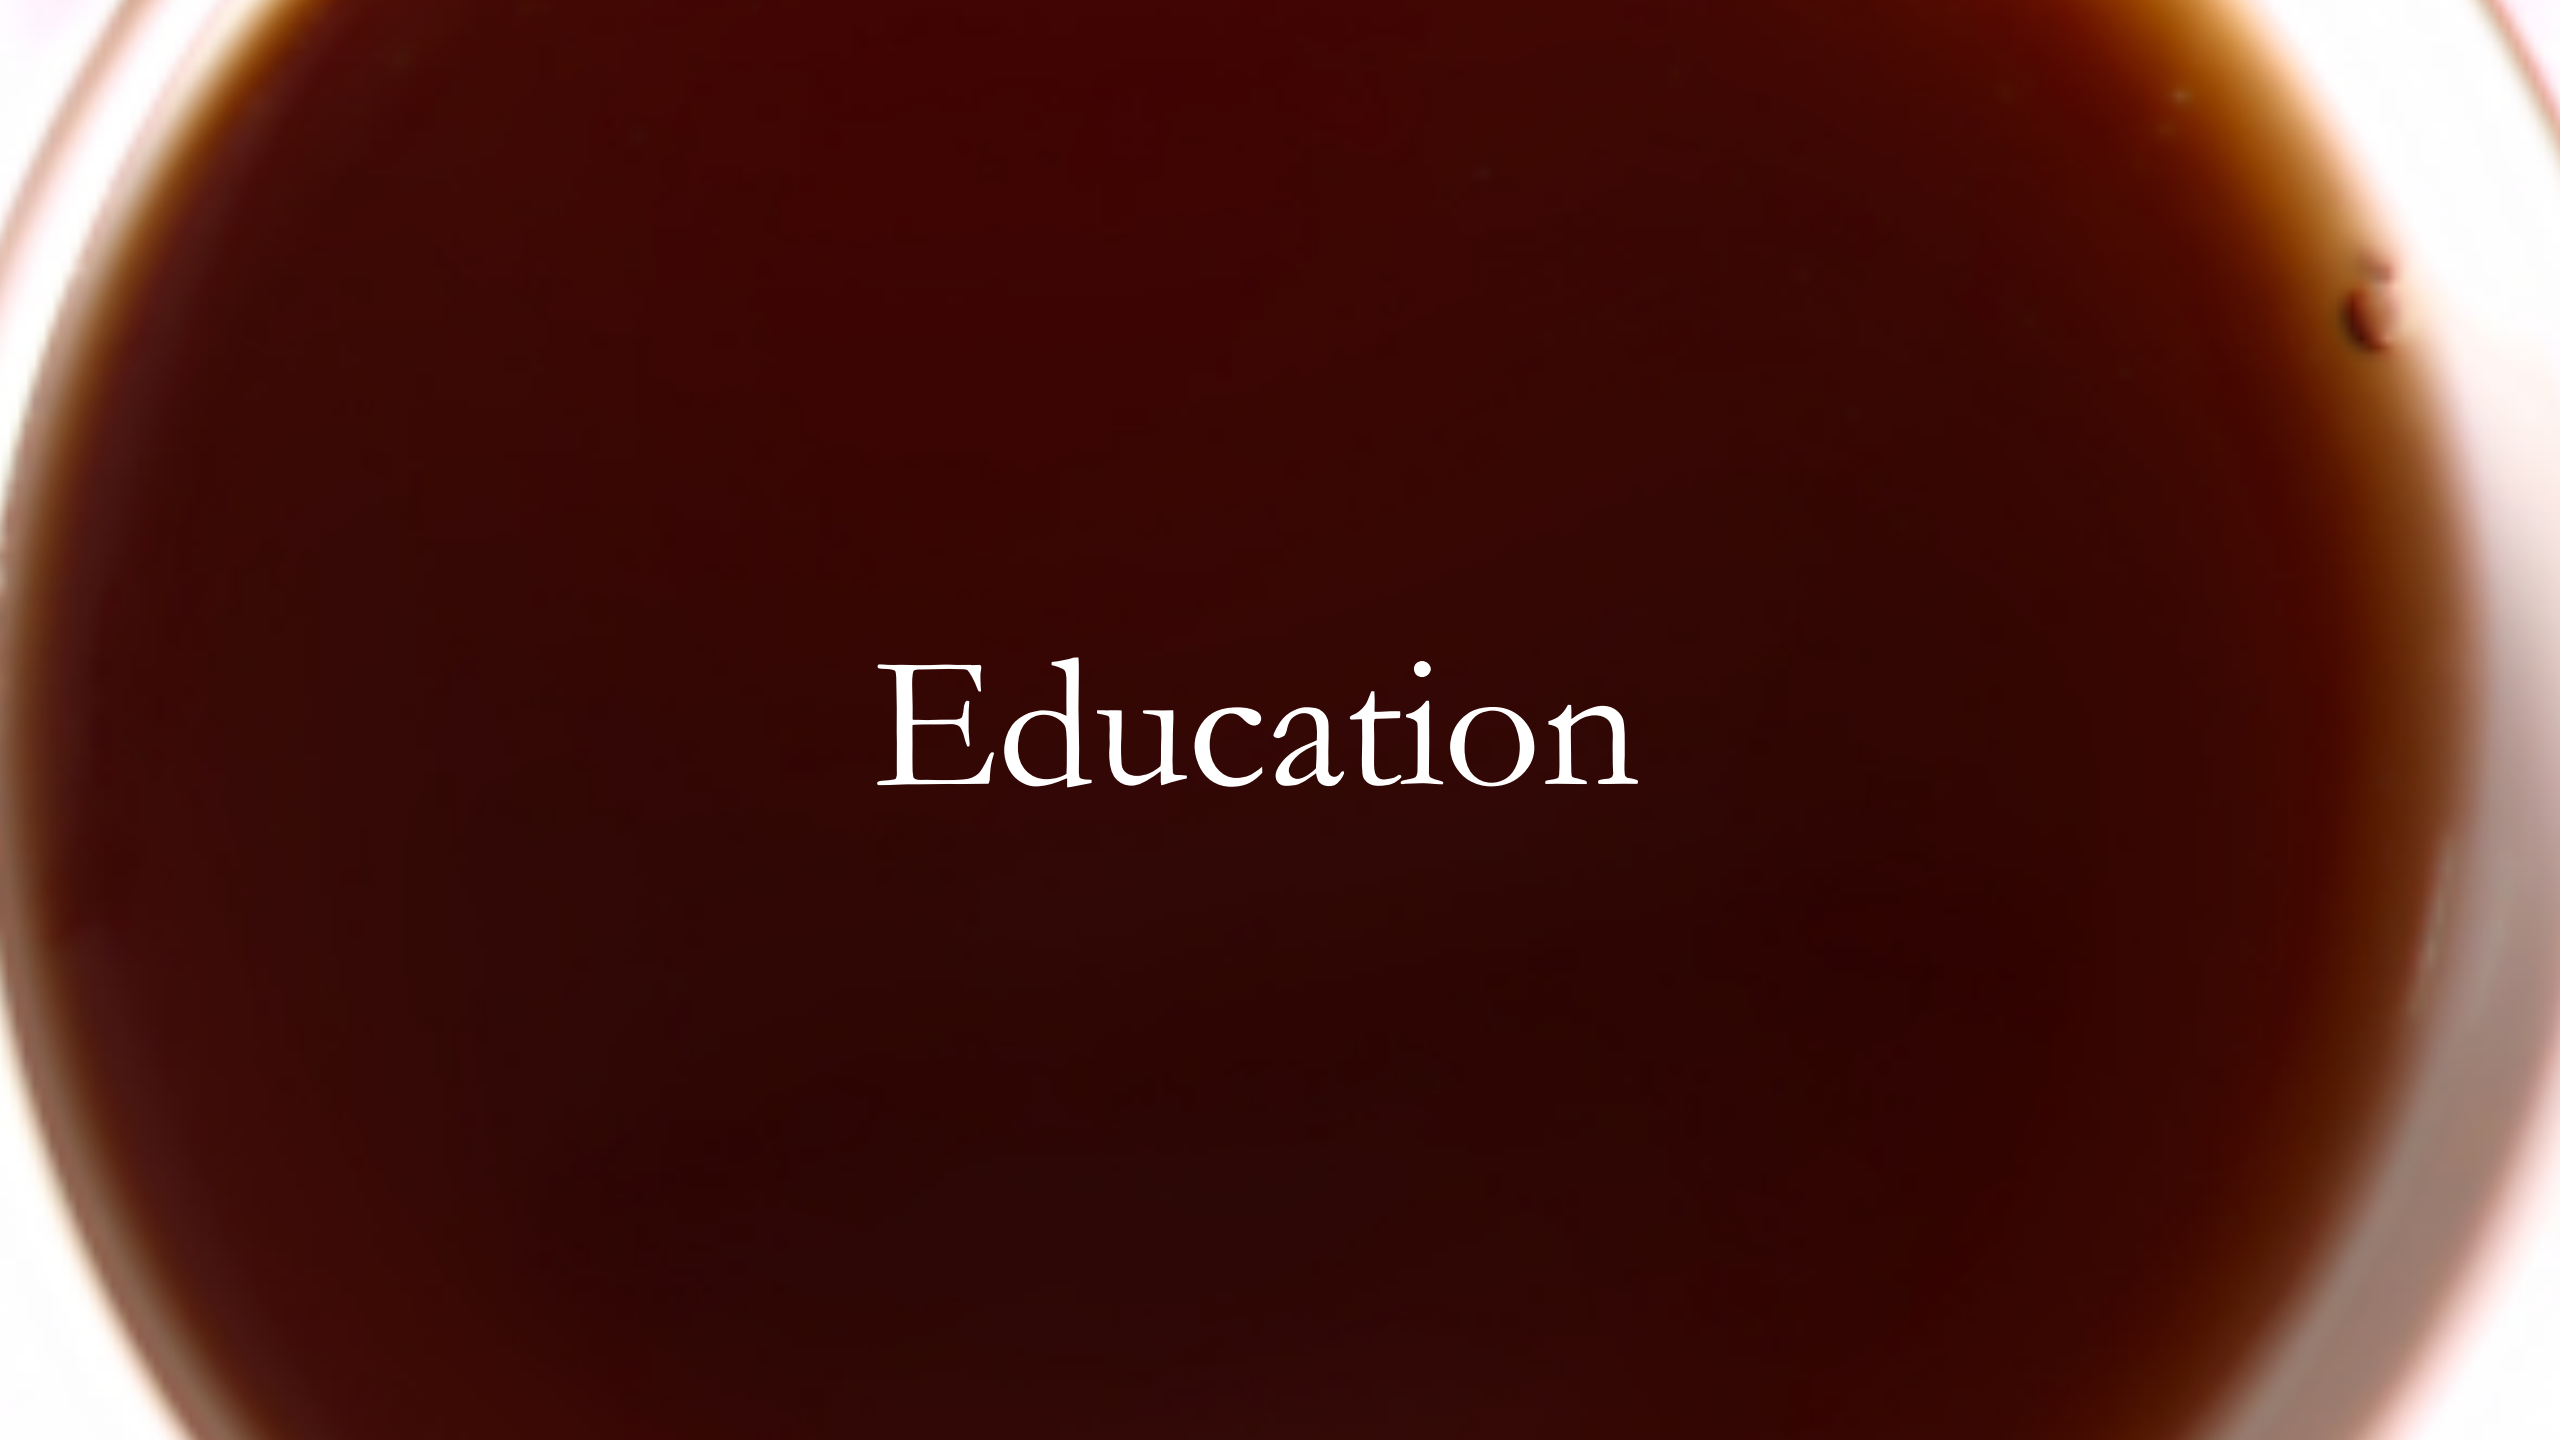

A top-down view of a white ceramic cup filled with a dark, rich brown liquid, likely tea. The cup is centered in the frame. The liquid's surface is smooth with a slight reflection of light. The background is a soft, out-of-focus light pink or lavender. To the left, a portion of another similar cup is visible. On the right side of the image, there is a vertical strip of light brown, textured material, possibly a book cover or a piece of paper, with a white rectangular area and a dark horizontal band.

T.E.A.

I hope next time when we meet,
we won't be fighting each other.

Instead we will be drinking tea together.

Four teapots are arranged horizontally in the background, their circular openings framing the text. They are dark in color with light-colored handles.
